Waverley Community & Seniors Centre – COVID-19 Update

Waverley Community & Seniors Centre is committed to supporting our centre users. To do this safely during the COVID-19 pandemic, we have adjusted our services to make sure we can continue to provide services while protecting everyone’s health and wellbeing.

Although our Centre’s services are suspended, we are still open virtually.

In addition to continuing to provide one-to-one telephone support, we are linking people into local activities online and will soon begin some of our regular exercise classes online as well.

We are not sure how long the COVID-19 restrictions will last, and we are following the advice given by the Commonwealth Department of Health and NSW Department of Health. We will continue to communicate service changes with Centre users through regular telephone supports, email updates and our Waverley Seniors Connect newsletter.

Got a question or would like regular telephone contact? Call the Centre on 9083 8999 during business hours.

If you need help at home and you are 65 years and over, you can also contact My Aged Care on 1800 200 422.

If you are feeling worried about COVID-19 and want to talk you can call the COVID-19 Support Line for Senior Australians on 1800 171 866.
